

Alison (Ali) Wolpert

Managing Director and Head of Global Government Relations

Alison (Ali) Wolpert serves as Managing Director and Head of Global Government Relations at DTCC where she is responsible for developing the firm's legislative and regulatory engagement strategy to help shape policymaking that impacts the organization's interests around the world.

Prior to this role, Ali was Executive Director and Head of US Legislative Relations & Political Engagement, overseeing legislative and political outreach in Washington, D.C, including engagement with the United States Congress, regulators and financial services industry representatives. She joined DTCC in 2011.

With nearly twenty years of government relations experience, prior to joining DTCC, Ali served over seven years as an Associate Director of Government Relations for CME Group. She previously worked in APCO Worldwide's Financial Services Government Relations practice.

Ali earned her B.A. degree from Tulane University and her master's degree in Public Policy from Georgetown University.