

Timothy Lind

Managing Director, DTCC Data Services

Timothy Lind serves as Managing Director of DTCC Data Services, where he is responsible for guiding the firm's data businesses, including services that leverage the vast amounts of data derived from DTCC's global processing platforms while ensuring on-going alignment with all risk management and regulatory requirements.

A recognized industry veteran with deep expertise in global capital markets infrastructure, Tim has amassed decades of experience in the deployment of technology for operational efficiency, data governance, transaction automation, regulatory compliance and risk management. Prior to DTCC, Tim held roles at Thomson Reuters, where he was responsible for developing and overseeing the growth of solutions to meet regulatory compliance data challenges faced by market participants and served as a consultant at RTech Advisors. Before that, he worked at Omgeo (now DTCC) as its Chief Strategy Officer. His previous experience includes positions at GoldenSource Corporation, CEB Tower Group, SWIFT and Brown Brothers Harriman.

Tim is a recognized thought leader who is often quoted in the media and is a frequent speaker at industry events and conferences. He has also worked extensively with industry associations promoting data standards in the financial services industry.
