Dear CareTrust REIT, Inc. Stockholder:

You are receiving this letter and the enclosed Questions and Answers (“Q&A”) and Election Form in connection with the special dividend in the amount of $132.0 million, or approximately $5.88 per share, recently declared by the Board of Directors (the “Board”) of CareTrust REIT, Inc. (the “Company”). You are receiving these materials because you owned shares of common stock of the Company as of October 31, 2014 (the “Record Date”). This letter, together with the enclosed Q&A, discusses the material elements of the special dividend, including your right to elect to receive the special dividend in the form of cash or stock (subject to certain limitations). Before making your election, you should carefully consider the information provided below, as well as the enclosed Q&A. Additionally, you are encouraged to review the reports filed by the Company with the Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”), including its Registration Statement on Form 10 and its Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q for the periods ended June 30, and September 30, 2014.

The Special Dividend

The special dividend was declared in connection with the Company’s plan to qualify to be taxed as a real estate investment trust (“REIT”) for U.S. federal income tax purposes commencing with its taxable year ending on December 31, 2014. The Company is distributing its accumulated earnings and profits (as determined for U.S. federal income tax purposes) for periods ending prior to June 1, 2014. The special dividend is intended to reduce the Company’s accumulated earnings and profits attributable to pre-REIT years in satisfaction of the annual distribution requirements applicable to REITs.

The special dividend is payable on December 10, 2014. Stockholders may elect to receive the special dividend in the form of cash or additional shares of Company common stock, subject to a requirement that the amount of cash to be distributed in the aggregate to all Company stockholders will be equal to $33.0 million (the “Cash Requirement”), plus any cash paid in lieu of issuing fractional shares. If you elect to receive cash, but the total amount of cash elected to be received by stockholders exceeds the Cash Requirement, the payment of cash will be made on a pro rata basis to all stockholders who elected to receive cash, such that the aggregate amount paid in cash equals the Cash Requirement, and the remaining portion of the special dividend will be paid to those stockholders in the form of Company common stock, plus cash in lieu of any fractional shares. If you elect to receive your special dividend in the form of Company common stock, or if you fail to make a timely election, you will receive a whole number of shares, plus cash in lieu of any fractional shares. However, if the total amount of cash elected to be received by stockholders is less than the Cash Requirement, then cash will be allocated on a pro rata basis to those stockholders who elected to receive shares, or failed to make a timely election, until the Cash Requirement is met. The total number of shares of Company common stock to be issued in the special dividend will be determined by dividing $99.0 million by the volume-weighted average trading price per share of the Company common stock on NASDAQ for the two trading days following the Election Deadline of December 1, 2014, adjusted to reflect the value of the special dividend.

The number of shares that a stockholder may receive in the special dividend is limited by the restrictions on ownership of Company stock set forth in the Company’s Charter. If your receipt of Company common stock in connection with the special dividend would cause you to exceed any such ownership restriction, you will receive cash in lieu of shares of common stock to the extent required to ensure that your ownership remains within the applicable limitations.

NASDAQ has established December 11, 2014 as the ex-dividend date. As such, the shares of CareTrust will trade 'with dividend' from October 29, 2014 through December 10, 2014, the payment date. This means that if you sell your shares on or after October 29, 2014 and on or before December 10, 2014, you will also sell your entitlement to the special dividend to the purchasers of the shares.

Although your tax consequences may vary depending upon the election you make and other factors based on your circumstances, you will be required to recognize the special dividend as taxable income, even if you receive all or mostly shares and little or no cash. You are urged to consult with your tax advisor before making your election.

Making Your Election

In order to make your election, please complete the enclosed Election Form in accordance with the enclosed instructions. The Election Deadline is 5:00 p.m. Eastern Time on December 1, 2014. If you do not make a valid election by the Election Deadline, you will be deemed to have elected to receive your special dividend in the form of Company common stock (subject to adjustments to ensure that the Cash Requirement is met). If your shares of Company common stock are held in the name of a bank, broker or nominee, please promptly inform such bank, broker, or nominee of the election they should make on your behalf. Likewise, if your shares are held by a bank, broker or nominee and you have questions regarding the special dividend election, please contact such bank, broker or nominee. The method of delivery of the Election Form is at your option and risk. The Company recommends using a delivery method that will provide a return receipt, such as certified mail.

You may change your election by delivering a new, properly completed Election Form bearing a later date than your previously submitted Election Form to the Election and Disbursing Agent, Broadridge Corporate Issuer Solutions, Inc., by the Election Deadline.

You are encouraged to read carefully the enclosed Questions and Answers About the CareTrust REIT, Inc. Special Dividend. If after reading these documents, you are uncertain about what to do, you are encouraged to consult with a financial professional to help you make your final decision. In addition, if you have questions about the Election Form or if you need any additional information or need additional copies, please contact the Election and Disbursing Agent, Broadridge Corporate Issuer Solutions, Inc., at (866) 321-8026.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ABOUT THE SPECIAL DIVIDEND

The following are common questions and answers related to the special dividend. If you have any additional questions, you should call Broadridge Corporate Issuer Solutions, Inc. (the “Election and Disbursing Agent”) at (866) 321-8026.

Why is the special dividend being made?

The special dividend was declared in connection with CareTrust REIT, Inc.’s (the “Company”) plan to qualify to be taxed as a real estate investment trust (“REIT”) for U.S. federal income tax purposes commencing with its taxable year ending on December 31, 2014. The Company is distributing its accumulated earnings and profits (as determined for U.S. federal income tax purposes) for periods ending prior to June 1, 2014. The special dividend is intended to reduce the Company’s accumulated earnings and profits attributable to pre-REIT years in satisfaction of the annual distribution requirements applicable to REITs. The total amount of the special dividend will be $132 million, or approximately $5.88 per share. The special dividend is payable on December 10, 2014 (the “Payment Date”) to holders of the Company’s common stock as of October 31, 2014 (the “Record Date”).

Does the Company expect to make additional special dividends to reduce its accumulated earnings and profits attributable to pre-REIT years?

The Company does not anticipate the need for any further special dividends to complete the reduction of its historical earnings and profits. If the Company later determines that a subsequent special dividend is necessary to qualify to be taxed as a REIT in 2014, it would expect to declare an additional special dividend of earnings and profits no later than December 31, 2014.

By making the special dividend, is the Company guaranteed to qualify as a REIT for federal income tax purposes?

No. To be eligible to elect to be taxed as a REIT for U.S. federal income tax purposes for the year ending December 31, 2014, the Company must distribute to its stockholders the accumulated earnings and profits attributable to the Company for periods ending prior to June 1, 2014, and must satisfy certain tests applicable to REITs. The Company’s failure to do so could result in its disqualification for taxation as a REIT. The amount of the Company’s accumulated earnings and profits is a complex factual and legal determination. The Company may have had less than complete information at the time it estimated earnings and profits or may have interpreted the applicable law differently from the IRS. The Company currently believes and intends that the special dividend will satisfy the requirements relating to the distribution of accumulated earnings and profits. However, there are substantial uncertainties relating to the computation of accumulated earnings and profits, including the possibility that the IRS could, in auditing tax years ending prior to June 1, 2014, successfully assert that the Company’s calculation understated the amount of accumulated earnings and profits. Consequently, the Company may fail to satisfy the requirement that it distribute all of its accumulated earnings and profits by the close of its first taxable year as a REIT. Moreover, although there are procedures available to cure a failure to distribute all accumulated earnings and profits, the Company cannot now determine whether it will be able to take advantage of those procedures, or the economic impact of doing so.

If the Company satisfies all of the requirements for treatment as a REIT for federal income tax purposes, is the Company required to be taxed as a REIT?

No. The Board of Directors of the Company (the “Board”) reserves the right not to elect to be taxed as a REIT for federal income tax purposes, even after paying the special dividend, if the Board determines that, based on developments that currently cannot be foreseen, such as a change in tax law, it is in the best interests of the Company not to make the election to be taxed as a REIT.

Where can I learn more about the risks associated with the Company and its attempt to qualify as a REIT for federal income taxation purposes?

For additional discussion of the risks associated with the Company, and its efforts to qualify as a REIT, please refer to the reports filed by the Company with the Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”), including its Registration Statement on Form 10 and its Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q for the periods ended June 30, and September 30, 2014.

Who is entitled to the special dividend?

Owners of shares of Company common stock as of the Record Date of October 31, 2014 are entitled to receive the special dividend. NASDAQ has established December 11, 2014 as the ex-dividend date. As such, the shares of CareTrust will trade ‘with dividend’ from October 29, 2014 through December 10, 2014, the payment date. This means that if you sell your shares on or after October 29, 2014 and on or before December 10, 2014, you will also sell your entitlement to the special dividend to the purchasers of the shares.

How will the Company’s stock trade with due bills?

NASDAQ has informed the Company that the special dividend will be subject to NASDAQ’s due bill trading requirements because the amount of the special dividend represents a distribution of greater than 25% of the stock price on the declaration date. Due bills will obligate sellers to deliver the special dividend to buyers. The due bill obligations are settled customarily between the brokers representing the buyers and sellers of stock. The Company has no obligation for the amount of the due bill or the processing of the due bill. NASDAQ will require that the Company’s common stock trade with due bills from October 29, 2014 until the close of trading on the Payment Date of December 10, 2014. For Company stockholders, this means that if they sell shares through NASDAQ on or after October 29, 2014 and on or before December 10, 2014, they will also sell their entitlement to receive the special dividend to the purchasers of the shares. The Company’s common stock will begin trading on an ex-distribution basis, without due bills attached (i.e., without the entitlement to receive the special dividend), from the opening of trading on December 11, 2014 (i.e., the first trading day after the Payment Date).

What election am I being asked to make?

You are being asked to elect to receive the special dividend in the form of either (1) cash or (2) additional shares of Company common stock. In either case, your election will be subject to a requirement that the amount of cash distributed in the aggregate to all Company stockholders be equal to $33.0 million (the “Cash Requirement”), plus cash paid in lieu of issuing any fractional shares.

What happens if Company stockholders elect to receive a total amount of cash in excess of the Cash Requirement?

If you elect cash: If Company stockholders, in the aggregate, elect to receive an amount of cash in excess of the Cash Requirement, then the payment of cash will be made on a pro rata basis to all stockholders who elected to receive cash, such that the aggregate amount paid in cash equals the Cash Requirement, and the remaining portion of the special dividend will be paid to these stockholders in the form of Company common stock.

If you elect shares or fail to make a timely election: If you elect to receive your special dividend in the form of Company common stock or you fail to make an election, you will receive a whole number of shares, plus cash in lieu of any fractional share.

What happens if Company stockholders elect to receive a total amount of cash that is less than the Cash Requirement?

If you elect cash: If Company stockholders, in the aggregate, elect to receive an amount of cash that is less than the Cash Requirement and you elect to receive your special dividend in the form of cash, then you will receive only cash.

If you elect shares or fail to make an election: Cash will be allocated on a pro rata basis to those stockholders who elected to receive shares (or failed to make an election) until the Cash Requirement is met, and the remaining portion of the special dividend will be paid to these stockholders in the form of Company common stock.

How many shares of common stock can I receive in the special dividend?

The total number of shares of Company common stock to be issued in the special dividend will be determined by dividing $99.0 million by the volume-weighted average trading price per share (“VWAP”) of the Company common stock on NASDAQ for the two trading days following the Election Deadline of December 1, 2014, adjusted to reflect the value of the special dividend ($5.88 per share). For example, if the VWAP is $14.50, we would deduct $5.88 from that number to get a value per share of $8.62. Based on this value, the share component of the special dividend would be approximately 11,484,919 shares of Company common stock in the aggregate. For any stockholder who receives payment of the special dividend solely in shares, this value would result in a special dividend of approximately 0.68 shares of common stock for each share owned by the stockholder on the Record Date.

However, the number of shares that a stockholder may receive in the special dividend is subject to the restrictions on ownership of Company stock set forth in the Company’s Charter. If your receipt of shares of common stock in connection with the special dividend would cause you to exceed the ownership limitation, then you will receive cash in lieu of shares of common stock to the extent required to ensure that your ownership remains within the applicable limitation.

Who will calculate the number of shares to be distributed in the special dividend?

The Election and Disbursing Agent will calculate the number of shares to be distributed in the special dividend.

Will fractional shares of Company common stock be distributed in the special dividend?

No. If you are receiving your special dividend in the form of Company common stock, you will receive a whole number of shares, plus cash in lieu of any fractional shares. The cash in lieu of any fractional share will be paid in an amount equal to the product obtained by multiplying the per share dividend amount by the fraction of one share that would otherwise be payable to the stockholder.

What is the purpose of the Election Form?

The enclosed Election Form allows you to choose between receiving the special dividend in the form of cash or additional shares of Company common stock (subject to adjustments to ensure that the Cash Requirement is met). To make this election, complete the enclosed Election Form according to the instructions and sign and return the form to the Election and Disbursing Agent by 5:00 p.m., Eastern Time, on December 1, 2014 (the “Election Deadline”).

How do I use the Election Form?

You should refer to the Election Form for instructions. When completed, sign and date the Election Form, indicating how you elect to receive your special dividend, and mail it to the Election and Disbursing Agent in the enclosed envelope.

What is the deadline for completing the Election Form and submitting it to the Election and Disbursing Agent?

A properly completed and signed Election Form must be returned to the Election and Disbursing Agent by the Election Deadline. The Election Deadline is 5:00 p.m., Eastern Time, on December 1, 2014.

What happens if I do not submit the Election Form by the deadline?

If you do not submit a properly completed and signed Election Form to the Election and Disbursing Agent by the Election Deadline, you will have no control over the form of dividend you may receive, and you will receive your special dividend in the form of Company common stock, subject to the Cash Requirement having been met.

Am I guaranteed to receive the form of dividend I ask for on the Election Form?

No. If Company stockholders elect to receive an amount of cash in excess of the Cash Requirement, the payment of cash will be made on a pro rata basis to all stockholders who elected to receive cash, such that the aggregate amount paid in cash equals the Cash Requirement, and the remaining portion of the special dividend will be paid to these stockholders in the form of Company common stock.

If you elect to receive your special dividend in the form of Company common stock, or if you fail to make a timely election, you will receive a whole number of shares, plus cash in lieu of any fractional shares. However, if the total amount of cash elected to be received by stockholders is less than the Cash Requirement, then cash will be allocated on a pro rata basis to those stockholders who elected to receive shares until the Cash Requirement is met, and the remainder will be paid in shares of common stock.

Additionally, the number of shares that a stockholder may receive in the special dividend is limited by the restrictions on ownership of Company stock set forth in the Company's Charter. If your receipt of shares of common stock in connection with the special dividend would cause you to exceed the ownership limitation, then you will receive cash in lieu of shares of common stock to the extent required to ensure that your ownership remains within the applicable limitation.

Can I elect to receive my special dividend in a combination of cash and stock?

No. You must elect to receive your special dividend either entirely in cash or entirely in Company common stock. You may, however, receive a combination of cash and stock under the circumstances described in the answers to the preceding questions.

Can I change my election?

Yes. You may change your election by delivering a new, properly completed Election Form bearing a later date than your previously submitted Election Form to the Election and Disbursing Agent by the Election Deadline.

How and where should I send my Election Form?

You are responsible for delivering your Election Form to the Election and Disbursing Agent. The method of delivery is at your option and risk. The Company recommends that you use either overnight delivery or registered mail, properly insured, return receipt requested, or deliver such materials by hand. Please keep in mind that the delivery time for registered or certified mail is often longer than regular mail. Whichever method you choose, please be sure to allow ample time for delivery. What if I have separate accounts?

You will receive and must complete a separate Election Form for each account that you have.

What if my shares of Company stock are held by a bank, broker or nominee?

The Election Form should be completed only by holders of record as of October 31, 2014. If your shares are held in the name of a bank, broker or nominee, please promptly inform such bank, broker, or nominee of the election they should make on your behalf. Likewise, if your shares are held by a bank, broker or nominee and you have questions regarding the dividend election, please contact such bank, broker or nominee.

What happens if I do not fill out the Election Form or other required paperwork properly?

If there is any problem with your documentation once it reaches the Election and Disbursing Agent, the Election and Disbursing Agent will return your Election Form to you with a letter of explanation. Your election will not be valid until any and all such problems with your documentation are resolved. If any problem with your Election Form is not resolved prior to the Election Deadline, you will be deemed to have elected to receive your special dividend in the form of Company common stock (subject to adjustments to ensure that the Cash Requirement is met).

Will I receive a physical certificate for any shares of Company common stock issued to me in the special dividend?

No. All shares of Company common stock that are issued in the special dividend will be issued to stockholders in book entry form.

How will any cash due to me in the special dividend be delivered to me?

If any cash is due to you, you will be mailed a check representing payment. In addition, you will receive a separate check for payment of any fractional share that would otherwise be issued. No interest will be paid or accrued on the cash payable to holders.

Could my election affect my percentage ownership of the Company?

If you elect to receive the special dividend in cash, your relative percentage ownership in the Company's outstanding common stock will decrease compared to stockholders who elect to receive the special dividend in shares of common stock. Conversely, if you elect to receive the special dividend in stock, your relative percentage ownership in the Company's outstanding common stock will increase compared to stockholders who elect to receive the special dividend in cash. Since the total number of shares of common stock to be issued in the special dividend has not been determined, the Company cannot determine the extent to which a stockholder's percentage ownership may change in connection with its election.

What are the tax consequences of the special dividend?

Your tax consequences may vary depending upon the election you make and a number of other factors, and you are urged to consult with your tax advisor before making your election. The following is a brief summary of certain U.S. federal income tax consequences of the special dividend applicable to taxable U.S. stockholders. For a discussion of the tax consequences to non-U.S. stockholders and tax-exempt stockholders, please refer to the Information Statement included in the Company's Registration Statement on Form 10, filed with the SEC.

The Company expects that (i) any and all of the cash and stock distributed as part of the special dividend will be treated as a distribution of property with respect to Company common stock, and as a dividend to the extent of the Company's current and accumulated earnings and profits (as determined for U.S. federal income tax purposes) and (ii) the amount of any Company common stock received by any stockholders as part of the special dividend will be considered to equal the amount of money which could have been received instead. A stockholder will be required to report dividend income as a result of the special dividend even if the stockholder receives no cash or only a nominal amount of cash in the special dividend. As a result, you may be required to pay income tax with respect to the special dividend in excess of the cash amount received.

You are encouraged to consult your tax advisors regarding the application of the federal income tax laws to your particular situation as well as the applicability of any federal estate and gift, state, local or foreign tax laws to which you may be subject.

For a complete discussion of the tax consequences of the special dividend please refer to the Information Statement included in the Company's Registration Statement on Form 10, filed with the SEC.

You should call the Election and Disbursing Agent, Broadridge Corporate Issuer Solutions, Inc., at (866) 321-8026 and request that a duplicate Election Form be mailed to you. Keep in mind that the Election and Disbursing Agent must receive any Election Form changes by the Election Deadline.

You should call the Election and Disbursing Agent at (866) 321-8026 to answer any questions you may have.
