U.S. Residents – Please refer to Canadian TaxInfo for a complete definition

For Canadian tax purposes, treaty benefits are only available to residents of the U.S. as defined in the Canada – U.S. Treaty. In general, a U.S. resident includes any person who, under U.S. domestic tax law, is subject to income tax in the United States by reason of domicile, residence, place of management, place of incorporation or any other similar criteria. Canada – U.S. Treaty benefits are available to an estate or trust, only to the extent that the income derived by such estate or trust is subject to income tax in the United States either in its own right or that of its beneficiaries. In some circumstances, a U.S. resident may not be entitled to claim treaty benefits by virtue of the application of the Limitation on Benefits (LOB) article in the Canada – U.S. Treaty. Refer to Limitation on Benefits for more information.

"Eligible Canadian Residents" are defined as follows for DTC purposes:

- a) Beneficial owners of securities maintained in the DTC account of a "registered Canadian Participant" where a "registered Canadian Participant" is (a) a DTC Participant or (b) a downstream financial intermediary holding securities in the account of a DTC Participant; which has directed the required Memorandum of Understanding to Canada Revenue Agency and has received a valid CRA identification number from the CRA, without regard to the residence of the beneficial owners of those securities.
- b) Registered Canadian pension plans that have valid CRA identification numbers issued by the Canada Revenue Agency.
- c) Canadian charities that are listed on the CRA website and for whom the charity status on that site indicates "registered". This listing should be checked prior to every dividend payment.

THE DIVIDEND POSITION AND ALLOCATION HISTORY ON THE ALLOCATION TAB VIA "CA WEB", SHOULD BE USED TO CONFIRM YOUR RECORD DATE POSITION HISTORY.

Participants making an instruction at the exempt rate for holders whom meet these requirements will be prompted to enter a Tax Exempt Control number which, for non-arm's length interest distributions only, should be entered as 999999.

All other holders should elect at the unfavorable rate of 25%.

By electing the Exempt 0% tax rate the Participant of DTC agrees to the Legal Conditions for the Use of DTC CA WEB TaxReliefSM section of Canadian TaxInfo.
