

Nashira Spencer

Managing Director, Chief Security Officer

Nashira Spencer serves as Managing Director and Chief Security Officer at DTCC. In this role, Nashira is responsible for managing DTCC's enterprise-wide global information security, physical security, employee safety, crisis/incident management functions and operational risk management, ensuring a comprehensive and holistic approach to risk management and supporting resilience efforts across the organization.

Nashira has over 20 years of leadership and expertise in security management across a number of sectors, including financial services. Prior to DTCC, Nashira served the last 6 years as Chief Information Security Officer (CISO) and, most recently, Chief Technology Officer at Anywhere Real Estate (formerly Realogy), a leading provider of U.S. residential real estate services. As CISO, Nashira's innovative approach enabled her to successfully conceive and execute the firm's enterprise-wide global cyber security and data privacy program during its digital transformation. She also created holistic cyber-security and data privacy models, overhauled the Threat & Vulnerability Management Program and managed all security functions, including incident response, product security, security operations, security engineering, IT privacy and security governance.

Prior to that, Nashira held security-related roles at several large, global institutions, including Time Warner, where she served as Executive Director of Privacy and Information Security, as well as Prudential Financial, Citigroup and Bloomberg LP. She is a strong advocate for Diversity, Equity and Inclusion and volunteers her time as an advocate for underrepresented communities and populations, including serving on the Board of Directors of The Girl Scouts of Northern New Jersey and NJ State Board of Junior Achievement.

Nashira holds a Master of Science in Telecommunication Networks from the Polytechnic Institute of New York University and a BS in Computer Science from the University of Pennsylvania.
